

TENSION IS AGAIN AGUTE AS THE RESULT OF GERMANY'S REPLY

Believed Bryan's Attitude and Words Led Berlin To Alter First Pacific Draft

(Associated Press By Federal Wireless.)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Despite the drawn out negotiations and the sobering effect that the exchange of four notes might be expected to have upon the nation, the American-German situation today is virtually the same as it was the day following the receipt of the news of the sinking of the Lusitania. The national sentiment, as evidenced by the press reception of the second German reply, is unchanged and the nation stands today as insistent upon the full recognition of American rights.

Firm Attitude Expected

That President Wilson and Secretary Lansing will continue to stand firmly for all that was demanded in the original American note is taken for granted and the main question now being discussed in official circles is whether or not diplomatic relations between Washington and Berlin will be continued.

It is believed by many that the President, after he has gone carefully into the German reply, will recall Ambassador Gerard and sever relations with Germany.

Deceived By Bryan

A study of the language of the German reply has led to the idea that the German foreign office has been deceived as to the temper of the American nation through the resignation of William Jennings Bryan as secretary of state and through his various public utterances in explanation of his course. Two weeks ago, according to the advance information as to Germany's probable attitude cabled to the state department by Ambassador Gerard, the German reply was in preparation on wholly different lines. There was an apparently well founded belief then that the appeal of the United States, based both on international law and the law of humanity, would be received in a totally different spirit.

Used Bryan's Language

A comparison of the text of the note actually received and the recent utterances of Mr. Bryan show a striking similarity, and the former secretary of state is credited with having inspired much of the language now used by the German foreign office. It is supposed that Count von Jagow and his advisers have been led to believe that Mr. Bryan spoke for a large number of Americans and that the American nation was divided as to the right of President Wilson to issue his protest against the German method of submarine warfare and the killing of Americans aboard belligerent merchant ships as passengers.

Official Note Today

The official text of the note will be received today at the state department, when Secretary Lansing will leave for Cornish, New Hampshire, to deliver the German reply personally to the President and to discuss with him the next step for the United States to take.

The refusal of the German government to meet the issue raised by the sinking of the Lusitania, and the position assumed by the German foreign office in that matter, differing essentially from the position taken in the first note, is regarded by the government officials as of the first importance, and they see nothing for the United States to do but to stand firmly and continue in the assertions that the United States will protect its citizens in the full exercise of all their rights as neutrals to travel in safety upon the high seas.

National Honor Involved

The United States cannot, without being dishonored, abandon the demands it has made upon Germany for full reparation for the lives of the hundred and more Americans lost when the Lusitania was torpedoed and sunk.

Germany has disavowed the intention of sacrificing the passengers aboard the Lusitania and has disclaimed the responsibility therefor, declining, in effect, to make the reparation demanded. In view of this, the recall of Ambassador Gerard is being considered.

It is believed here that the President will wish to await the crystallization of public opinion before acting. As in the various other instances where the United States has found itself at issue with the belligerents over war developments, he will secure a full and authoritative statement of the facts and await expression of opinion on the part of the people before outlining the administration's course.

TROOP MOVEMENTS ON PACIFIC DUE

Suspended Orders For Philippine Transfers Are Now To Go Into Effect

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The orders issued some weeks ago for the transfer to the United States of the three regiments of regular troops in the Philippine Islands and the assignment to the Philippines of other regiments now on duty on the Mexican border, which had been suspended, pending the outcome of affairs in Mexico, will now be put into force.

On August 5, from San Francisco, the transport will sail for the Philippines, via Honolulu, carrying the Fourth, Seventeenth, Eleventh and Thirty-sixth companies of Coast Artillery, for station at Manila and Subig Bay.

From Manila, on September 13, the Eighth Cavalry and the Twenty-fourth Infantry will embark for the United States, the Seventh Cavalry to return on a later transport.

Relieving these troops will be sent the Ninth and Fifteenth Cavalry and the Twenty-seventh Infantry, as fast as transportation can be provided.

CARRANZISTAS IN THE CAPITAL AGAIN

Gonzales Led Victorious Army Into City Yesterday—Zapata Forces Withdraw

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The state department has been notified that the Carranzistas attack upon the City of Mexico has been successful. General Gonzales entering that city yesterday at the head of his forces, with the Zapatistas withdrawing and acknowledging defeat.

In the north, however, according to the reports sent out by the Villa agency at El Paso, the Carranzistas received a heavy defeat, the First Chief's main army being beaten in an engagement south of Aguas Calientes.

Law Is Clear

Officials are agreed that the law in the case gives the United States an impregnable position. The principles upon which America stands have been long recognized and no argument of necessity which Germany can raise can alter them.

It Is Recognized That the Nations

are now diplomatically deadlocked in the different interpretations they put upon the right of any nation to carry on a submarine warfare that violently invades the rights of neutrals, but the United States must abide by its own interpretation, which is so clearly buttressed by every recognized principle of international law.

Other neutral nations are now looking to the United States and expecting America to uphold neutrality rights based upon international law, and the United States cannot sacrifice either her own rights or those of the other neutral nations.

It is expected that President Wilson will take the German reply under consideration tomorrow and that the position to be taken by the Administration will be known before the end of the week.

Will Sound Public

It is believed here that the President will wish to await the crystallization of public opinion before acting. As in the various other instances where the United States has found itself at issue with the belligerents over war developments, he will secure a full and authoritative statement of the facts and await expression of opinion on the part of the people before outlining the administration's course.

Germany's Lost Battleship Identified As the Pommern

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

LONDON, July 11.—The Stockholm correspondent of the Evening Standard states that he has been able positively to establish the identity of the German battleship torpedoed and sunk by a British submarine in the Baltic naval engagement of July 2. The ship which was struck and which went down with the majority of the members of her crew was the battleship Pommern, the correspondent asserts.

The Pommern was one of the five battleships of the Deutschland class, of 13,200 tons, carrying a complement of 729 officers and men. She was launched in 1905. This battleship was heavily armed, with four 11-inch and fourteen 6.7-inch guns.

BRITISH AND GERMAN OPINIONS ON OUTCOME OF GERMANY'S REPLY

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

LONDON, July 11.—The German reply to America and the reception accorded it by the people of the United States are attracting more attention from press and public than even the great developments taking place on all four of the battle-fronts of Europe.

"What will the United States do now?" is the question the British press is asking, while the German press, according to the despatches from Berlin, is generally loud in praise of the reply of von Jagow.

GERMANS PRAISE REPLY

The German press is agreed that the friendship of the United States should be preserved, if it be possible to retain it without "practically partially disarming in the midst of a war for self-preservation." It is agreed, by the majority of the editors, that the German reply opens the way wide for American acceptance, provided America is sincere in its friendly attitude.

BRITISH WATCHFUL WAITING

The British press takes the ground that the German reply is exactly what the United States should have expected. It is not believable that a nation which would celebrate the sinking of the Lusitania would hesitate to defend its actions, say a number of editors, in effect, nor was it supposable that the Germans would agree to adopt humane methods for her naval warfare when she has disregarded all the conventions in her fighting on land.

Intense interest is being taken in the next move from Washington. It is not believed that President Wilson will recede and accept the German reply as at all satisfactory.

ANOTHER HOPE FOR BECKER IS GONE

DOUBLY PROVEN

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

Honolulu Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence.

This grateful citizen testified long ago. Told of quick relief—of undoubted benefit. The facts are now confirmed. Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit. G. F. Schoenfeld, 1429 A'ala St., St. Louis, Mo., says: "I had lots of trouble from backache and got so lame at times that I could hardly get around. The kidney secretions were disordered and I had to get up several times at night to pass them. I hadn't used over half a box of Doan's Backache Kidney Pills when I got relief. I gradually got well. The backache left. My kidneys became normal and the kidney secretions cleared up. I publicly recommended Doan's Backache Kidney Pills some years ago, after they helped me so much, and it gives me pleasure to confirm my former endorsement."

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and storekeepers at 50 cents per box (six boxes $2.50), or will be mailed on receipt of price by the Ballister Drug Co., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

Remember the name, Doan's, and take no substitute.

Along the Isonzo, on the Carnian Plateau, the Italian positions were violently assaulted on Friday by the Austrians, who were repulsed with heavy losses. The Italians advanced their positions after the battle.

It is reported here that the Austrians propose to make an attack upon this city with Zeppelins, which have been shipped to the Adriatic coast from Friedrichshafen. Preparations are under way to drive off the aerial raiders and anti-aircraft guns are being mounted in places of vantage.

HILO MAN WINS HONOLULU BRIDE

(Mail Special to The Advertiser.)

HILO, July 9.—Henry McKeen and Miss Miriam Fern were united in marriage Sunday evening at five o'clock by Rev. George Laughton in the parsonage of the First Foreign Church. After the ceremony the newlyweds were guests at a wedding supper given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reid.

McKeen is an employee of the Matson Navigation Company and has lived in Hilo for a number of years. The bride is a Honolulu girl with many friends there. She is a niece of ex-Mayor Fern of Honolulu.

For the present, the young couple will make their home in the Waikanae sea shore cottage of Mr. and Mrs. George Russell.

NO ACTION WILL BE TAKEN BEFORE PROTESTS

(Mail Special to The Advertiser.)

HILO, July 9.—Unless an objection is made to the proposed change in the rates of the Hawaii Telephone Company, by which a toll rate for long distance telephoning will go into effect on August 1, no consideration of the change will be made by the Public Utilities Commission, believes J. N. S. Williams, a member of the commission.

"The commission is not required to take any action," he explains, "unless a protest to the change in rates is made by the subscribers. All the telephone people are required by law to do is to give thirty days' notice of the proposed change. This they have done."

In conclusion Mr. Williams declared that he did not think the commission would either approve or disapprove of the rate changes, if no protest is made. In case there is a protest, then both sides will be given a hearing, he added.

GOVERNMENT PRICES RULE IN AUSTRALIA

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The state department has been notified by the consular agents in Australia that the Australian government has assumed control of the prices to be charged for wheat, sugar, butter and meat, to prevent any cornering of the market in the face of a short supply. The recent drought, combined with the heavy demands that have been made upon the available supply in the filling of war orders for Great Britain, has resulted in a shortage in the supplies of these commodities.

BOURBON LEADERS ADVISE McREYNOLD ABOUT JUDGESHIPS

But Disagree As To Best Man To Fill Whitney's Place—Barron Wires Congressional Friends

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

The department of justice is receiving plenty of expert advice just now as to whom to nominate to succeed Circuit Judge Whitney, or whether it is best to name anyone to succeed him.

A special cablegram from Washington yesterday announced that J. McCarra, who has distinguished himself as United States district attorney for the past couple of years, is closeted with Attorney General McReynold, advising him as to the legal abilities of the various Hawaiian lawyers who might be in line for appointment.

Mr. McCarra, according to rumors which started before he left for Tennessee, knows of at least one lawyer in Honolulu eminently qualified for the chief justiceship. This lawyer, the district attorney is too modest to mention by name, but he is said to be a leading ex-member of the Tennessee bar and a famous orator.

Last night a special despatch to The Advertiser from San Francisco announced that "Soapbox" Barron has stepped into the breach and is advising the attorney general by long-distance phone just what ought to be done. He has also telegraphed to sixteen Democratic representatives and eleven Democratic senators, putting the matter straight up to them.

Strange to say, Mr. Barron does not agree with Mr. McCarra, and there the trouble begins for the attorney general. Mr. McCarra is quite satisfied that the attorney general did the right thing when he refused to renominate Judge Whitney. Mr. Barron has told him right out, just like that, that there is where he made his error of judgment, surprising in a Democrat and a good judge of men.

Barron has informed Mr. McReynold that he should have renominated Whitney and that it is not too late to do it still. He urges him to reconsider the matter and he has wired his sixteen representatives and eleven senators to impress upon the attorney general the wisdom of accepting his, Barron's, disinterested advice.

Barron has also called to Collectors of the Port Franklin, asking him to use his influence with the attorney general on behalf of Judge Whitney. At least the special wireless last night quoted Barron as having passed the word on to the collector of the port by prepaid cable.

To Make A Plea

Judge Whitney will arrive in San Francisco today, and Barron will be a committee of one to meet him at the dock, with a full report on the situation as it exists at the moment. He will undoubtedly cheer the judge up and make a few of his customary jocular remarks. It is understood that Barron had put aside all his own personal engagements for the time being and will place himself at the disposal of the judge and Mrs. Whitney, to escort them about the fair and generally make their stay on the Coast agreeable.

Governor Pinkham was interviewed by Barron and urged to get busy in Judge Whitney's behalf. He found the Governor kanaloa, however, and not inclined to commit himself until he discovered just how the land might lay.

JEALOUS JAPANESE MUTILATES WOMAN

(Mail Special to The Advertiser.)

HILO, July 9.—Enraged by jealousy, Koga Gigo, a plantation laborer employed at Pihonua, attacked a Japanese woman last Wednesday morning, slashing her about the neck and head with a knife. He cut a gash in the back of the woman's neck and then almost severed her left ear with a vicious blow. With another he cut the right ear in two. Before fleeing into the cane fields he gashed the woman's arms in a frightful manner. Physicians are treating the woman's wounds with small hopes of saving her life. The man is still at liberty.

SLAVS SMASH AT AUSTRIANS WHO CANNOT HOLD GROUND UNSUPPORTED

Germans Withdrawn, It Is Believed, For Another Drive Toward Warsaw, and Austrians Are Not Able To Fight Alone

PETROGRAD RUSHING TO STRENGTHEN WARSAW LINE

Reinforcements and Supplies From Archangel Being Hurried To Protecting Positions—Russian Nation In Confident Mood

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

LONDON, July 11.—According to the Petrograd despatches, the Russians in South Poland are smashing the Austrian columns in a series of violent onslaughts, the Austrians being wholly unable to withstand the desperate offensive of the Slavs.

Once the troops of von Linsingen lost the advantage before Krasnik the Russians commenced to concentrate on them and now the Austrians are being driven back and harried as rapidly and as seriously as the Russians were being driven back and harried ten days ago.

Petrograd asserts that the Austrians will be driven right back to the Carpathians again and that Russia will soon have regained all the territory abandoned before the combined Austrian and German drive.

It is believed here that the complete reversal of the situation in South Poland and Eastern Galicia is due to the fact that the Germans have withdrawn their supporting forces for another lunge at Warsaw, with the Austrians simply endeavoring to hold their ground on the south until the German blow is struck either to the north or the west of the Polish capital, when the Russians will have to weaken their southern line to hold their northern or western line. Then the Austrians will advance, in an endeavor to turn the Russian left and win Warsaw from the rear.

Petrograd expects another attempt upon Warsaw and is preparing to resist it. Reinforcements and munitions are being hurried through Brest Litovsk along all the strategic lines, from Osovetz to Lvovgorod.

The stand being made by the Grand Duke Nicholas against the invaders of Poland has raised the spirits of the Russian nation greatly and there is no longer any general belief that Warsaw will have to be abandoned and the Russian line withdrawn to the Bug River, leaving Poland in the hands of the enemy.

It is recognized here that Russia's ability to withstand any great German advance against Warsaw depends very largely upon the amount of munitions which can be shipped into the country through Archangel. Germany is endeavoring by every means in her power to prevent these shipments, and the Russians are being steadily made and that the Russian forces will soon be well equipped again for an offensive as well as a defensive campaign.

The Vienna despatches last night state that desperate fighting is going on between the Russian and Austrian south of Krasnik, the issue of the battle being as yet undecided. The Petrograd asserts that the attempts of the Germans to advance have been stopped.
